Naniram Nepal, Sindhupalchowk.

The people of Yweg have been provided house-to-house service by free eye camps in the remote Jugal village of the district. The locals in Yweg, who do not have access to health care, received a free eye exam by camping at Dhande Bazaar, the center of Jugal village.

After eye examination, the glasses are also distributed free of charge to the users. The camp participants seemed happy after receiving eye check services and free glasses in the yard. "Can't go to town, check out the eyes in the village, get glasses," said Maila Lama of Jugal VDC-7 Bamarchi and said, "Eye control was a good thing, completed today."

Locals suffering from eye problems from Gumba, Golche, Pangtang, Selang and the surrounding villages had flogged on Monday after hearing that a free eye camp was started in Dhandbazar. There was no limit to My Bahadur Bhujel's happiness from Jugal-1 Golche after receiving eye checks and free glasses at home. He said the incident happened after receiving information from the villagers that it was an eye check. "The villagers sent the paper that it was an eye problem, there was a free camp," she said, "but when the news came I came in the morning to check the eyes." "They had to reach Chautara to have their eyes checked. They have served in the village today," said Sanjana Tamang, vice president of Jugal Village. In the coming days, such camps will be run in the village, taking into account the health of the population, said Homnarayan Shrestha, the village's president. "We will go to the villages with such free health camps in the coming days," he said.

The two-day free eye camp has been launched from Monday with the help of Bhizan Far al and Jugal municipality. Vision for AI has tested the eyes of people in Jugalweg by bringing older doctors from Sweden. Eye co-operatives were distributed to Sweden by bringing glasses from Sweden, says Lila Baniyan, Nepal's Vision Coordinator for AI.
